FRANCE

Away from the hustle and bustle of the coast, tucked away in the hills above Cannes, this newly built contemporary villa offers a breathtaking view of the sea and the Cap d'Antibes. The south-facing four-bedroom property was designed and built by a team of French and Italian architect-designers, using expanses of glass to bring the indoor and outdoor spaces together. The landscaped garden includes a pool house with summer kitchen, an outdoor seating area that connects seamlessly to the living room and an infinity pool that stretches out to the azur horizon of sea and sky. In addition, there is a fully equipped solarium on the roof, an outdoor cinema and the latest in home technology.
